Dear [Redacted]

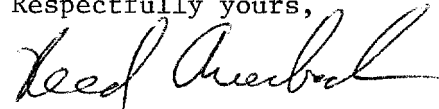

STAT

Thank you so much for arranging the briefing for the International Fellows of Columbia University on Friday October 14, 1983. We very much enjoyed the briefings by Messrs. [Redacted]

It was also very nice seeing you again. I want to wish you the best of luck in any future endeavor to choose to pursue.

Again, thank you.

Respectfully yours,

Reed Auerbach

Dear [Redacted]

STAT

This letter is to confirm our briefing on Friday morning October 14, 1983 at 9:00 a.m. I understand that in addition to [Redacted] briefing on the NIEO there will be a speaker or panel of speakers addressing Sino-Soviet relations as well as a gentleman discussing the role of intelligence gathering in U.S. foreign policy. I would appreciate it if when you have finalized the speakers you would give me a call.

For your information, the International Fellows are fifty of Columbia's top graduate students selected from the schools of law, business, international affairs, and journalism, on the basis of their academic achievement and leadership potential. They participate in a year long interdisciplinary seminar on U.S. foreign and defense policy. Twice each year the Fellows visit Washington for a series of briefings with officials of public and private institutions concerned with international affairs.

Enclosed you will find a list of the Fellows and their Social Security numbers as you requested. I look forward to meeting with you again.

Thank you.

Respectfully yours,
